What Does God Say about Today's Law Enforcement Officer? Nov 18 2019 Recent tragedies in the news today have painted law enforcement officers as anything but protectors of the people. Yet God ordained each person to have a specific role on earth, and the same is true for those who see law enforcement as their calling of duty. In the new book, What Does God Think of Today's Law Enforcement Officer, author Randy Emon discusses the topic of God and law enforcement through a question-and-answer explanation. Common areas of interest, such as the behavior of law enforcement, using lethal force and the salvation of law enforcement are answered from God's viewpoint, as stated in the Bible. Randy compares the role origins of Roman soldiers to law enforcement today, showing that these men and women are anointed as God's peacekeepers and servants of the law. The Bible calls all to serve, which has been, and will forever be, the purpose for law enforcement.

Law Enforcement Officer - Master the Interview Dec 12 2021 Learn how to beat the competition and get the law enforcement job you want by understanding your own underlying Emotional Intelligence and Behavioral Traits, and how they will be measured in interviews. There are seven behavioral competencies found in everyone's emotional makeup that are recognized in The Law Enforcement Officer Emotional Intelligence & Behavioral Competency Profile developed by Dr. Zendzian (2003). These competencies are seen in behaviors that employers will observe when interviewing people for law enforcement positions. The brief time that interviewers and oral board panelists spend with candidates during an interview will provide a snapshot of who they are at that moment in time. It is not only WHAT you say that counts, but HOW well you say it! This Guidebook begins with a discussion of learning styles and focuses on understanding the importance that mental reasoning assumes during an interview. You will learn why you must master each of the seven behavioral competencies. Insight is provided into what interviewers are looking for when rating your responses. You will learn to develop strategies and tactics for performing better when applying your emotional intelligence to questions that are asked. This book contains ALL of the techniques, hints, and skills that people who have mastered interviewing use when answering questions. Now you can know what to expect, along with the types of questions you will be asked, during an oral interview. Avoid scoring low in any interview. You will be guided through correct and incorrect responses to sample questions. There is a list of twenty-five topics from which interview questions have been drafted. Don't show up to an interview unprepared and looking dumbfounded. Learn WHAT to say and HOW to say it. Learning how to Master the Interview will result in dramatically higher scores on your next interview.

Law Enforcement Officers' Understanding of Domestic Violence Among Their Colleagues Oct 10 2021 This study examined the perceptions of officers with colleagues who perpetrate acts of domestic violence. This was a qualitative research design from a phenomenological perspective. The data was gathered by the use of face-to-face interviews using open-ended questions. The data was analyzed by the use of bracketing, horizontalization, clusters of meanings, textural and structural descriptions, and the invariant structure of the phenomena described by the study participants. Upon completion of the 30 interviews, the audio tapes were all transcribed, and loaded in to Atlas Ti for the purpose of coding the data for the major themes. A constant comparison method was used to analyze the data to help identify the similarities and differences between the study participants' perceptions with the phenomena. The five qualitative questions each depict a different area of experience with the phenomenon, to create a holistic picture of the perceptions of the thirty participants. The findings suggest that for some officers, the inability to separate their police role from their civilian role may be a factor in the perpetration of domestic violence by law enforcement officers. The findings also suggest that social workers may be able to play an important role in the remediation of the problem of domestic violence for those within and outside police social work settings.
