A retelling of the story about the princess who wanted to marry her beloved bird despite her father's disapproval. In the end, the princess decided to turn herself into a beautiful bird and fly away with her beloved bird to his kingdom. Suggested level: primary. This book (hardcover) is part of the TREDITION CLASSICS. It contains classical literature works from over two thousand years. Most of these titles have been out of print and off the bookstore shelves for decades. The book series is intended to preserve the cultural legacy and to promote the timeless works of classical literature. Readers of a TREDITION CLASSICS book support the mission to save many of the amazing works of world literature from oblivion. With this series, tredition intends to make thousands of international literature classics available in printed format again - worldwide. Andi is short. And she has lots of wishes. She wishes she could play on the school basketball team, she wishes for her own bedroom, but most of all she wishes that her long-lost half-brother, Bernardo, could come and live in London where he belongs. Then Andi's biggest wish comes true and she's minutes away from becoming someone's little sister. As she waits anxiously for Bernardo to arrive from the Philippines, she hopes he'll turn out to be tall and just as crazy as she is about basketball. When he finally arrives, he's tall all right. Eight feet tall, in fact—plagued by condition called Gigantism and troubled by secrets that he believes led to his phenomenal growth. In a novel packed with quirkiness and humor, Gourlay explores a touching sibling relationship and the clash of two very different cultures. A retelling of the story about a brother who searches for his missing older sisters. A retelling of the story about a young orphan who is rewarded with coins for her kindness to a beggar woman. A retelling of the story about a girl who, with the help of the dwarves, finds her lost father and meets a prince. Nominated for ten UK book awards, Theresa Breslin's hit novel tells of how two young boys - one Rangers fan, one Celtic fan - are drawn into a secret pact to help a young asylum seeker in a city divided by prejudice. Now adapted for the stage by Martin Travers, the play has already been produced to great acclaim at Glasgow's Citizens Theatre. Graham and Joe just want to play football and be selected for the new city team, but a violent attack on Kyoul, an asylum seeker, changes everything when they find themselves drawn into a secret pact to help the victim and his girlfriend Leanne. Set in Glasgow at the time of the Orange Order walks, Divided City is a gripping tale about two boys and how they must find their own way forward in a world divided by difference. This educational edition has been prepared by national Drama in Secondary English experts Ruth Moore and Paul Bunyan. Published in Methuen Drama's Critical Scripts series the book: - meets the curriculum requirements for English at KS3, GCSE and Scottish CfE. - features detailed, structured schemes of work utilising drama approaches to improve literary and language analysis - places pupils' understanding of the learning process at the heart of the activities - will help pupils to boost English GCSE success and develop high-level skills at KS3 - will save teachers considerable time devising their own resources. A retelling of the story about a sultan who, disguised as a beggar, meets a poor but generous couple. Provides information on the history and present practice of theater in the world. A warm, tender story perfect for fans of Front Desk about a creative girl who hopes that by winning a filmmaking contest, she'll convince her great-grandfather to stay by her side. Kaia and her family live near the beach in California, where the fun of moviemaking is all around them. Kaia loves playing with makeup and creating special effects, turning her friends into merfolk and other magical creatures. This summer, Kaia and her friends are part of a creative arts camp, where they're working on a short movie to enter in a contest. The movie is inspired by the Filipino folktales that her beloved Tatang, her great-grandfather, tells. Tatang lives with her family and is like the sparkle of her special-effects makeup. When Tatang decides that it is time to return to his homeland in the Philippines, Kaia will do anything to convince him not to go. When Penguin gets pooped on by a flying goose, he doesn't just get angry--he decides to do something about it. Penguin and his flightless friends set out to build a flying machine that will give them the bird's eye view they've never had in this picture book. Illustrations. "Twenty-one years after its first ever resource and reference book on children's literature in the Philippines, the Philippine Board on Books for Young People (PBBY) again offers readers a second look at where Philippine children's literature is today: the huge strides it has taken and the many more fascinating destinations it has set its sights on." In this first ever resource and reference book on children's literature in the Philippines, Anvil Publishing and Philippine Board on Books for Young People (PBBY) show the wisdom and pleasure of writing, illustrating for children, and reading by children. Not only it promotes children's literature, but this resource also explains the general procedure in publishing and how can writers get the break that they need. WINNER OF THE 2007 CHLA BOOK AWARD! Children's literature has transcended linguistic and cultural borders since books and magazines for young readers were first produced, with popular books translated throughout the world. Emer O'Sullivan traces the history of comparative children's literature studies, from the enthusiastic internationalism of the post-war period - which set out from the idea of a supra-national world republic of childhood - to modern comparative criticism. Drawing on the scholarship and children's literature of many cultures and languages, she outlines the constituent areas that structure the field, including contact and transfer studies, intertextuality studies, intermediality studies and image studies. In doing so, she provides the first comprehensive overview of this exciting new research area. Comparative Children's Literature also links the fields of narratology and translation studies, to develop an original and highly valuable communicative model of translation. Taking in issues of children's 'classics', the canon and world literature for children, Comparative Children's Literature reveals that this branch of literature is not as genuinely international as it is often fondly assumed to be and is essential reading for those interested in the consequences of globalization on children's literature and culture. Isang malaking gampanin pa rin hanggang ngayon ang patuloy na edukasyon ng madla, lalo na ng mga magulang at guro. Nakasalalay ang higit na mabilis at malawakang pagsulong ng panitikang pambata sa wastong pagsulong ng pambansang pagpapahalaga sa panitikan at aklat pambata, ayon kay Almario. A book of blank pages for writing personal observations in the spirit of "A series of unfortunate events" by Lemony Snicket. A journey beyond imagination is about to unfold. . . . It begins in the most boring place in the world: Chickentown, USA. There lives Candy Quackenbush, her heart bursting for some clue as to what her future might hold. When the answer comes, it's not one she expects. Welcome to the Abarat, a vast archipelago where every island is a different hour of the day. Candy has a place in this extraordinary land: She is here to help save the Abarat from the dark forces that are stirring at its heart—forces older than Time itself, and more evil than anything Candy has ever encountered. She's a strange heroine, she knows. But this is a strange world. And in the Abarat, all things are possible. Amelia and her family move to a resettlement area after the eruption of Mount Pinatubo. There she makes a new friend, an Aeta named Johnny, who knows much about herbal medicine and keeps a pet owl hidden in his hair. Her parents are prejudiced against the Aetas until one day they learn to respect the wisdom and kindness offered by Johnny and his grandfather. Clifford's owner, Emily Elizabeth, describes a typical day with her big red dog. The Filipino American theater troupe "tongue in A mood" blends comedy, satire, music, and social commentary. Gossip, Sex, and the End of the World: Collected Works of tongue in A mood, edited by Theodore S. Gonzalves and A. Samson Manalo, collects the group's critically-acclaimed and popular sketch comedy shows (Tsismis, Bomba, and Damo) into one volume. An extraordinarily beautiful novel-in-verse, this important debut weaves a dramatic immigrant story together with Pilipino mythology to create something wholly new. Stella and Luna know that their mama, Elsie, came from the Philippines when she was a child, but they don't know much else. So one night they ask her to tell them her story. As they get ready for bed, their mama spins two tales: that of her youth as a strong-willed middle child and immigrant; and that of the young life of Mayari, the mythical daughter of a god. Both are tales of sisterhood and motherhood, and of the difficult experience of trying to fit into a new culture, and having to fight for a home and acceptance. Glorious and layered, this is a portrait of family and strength for the ages.
